

Warning for all construction workers: STAY AWAY FROM ELECTRIC WIRES!

Before construction

Survey the work site and go through all possible safety issues with the workers and managing team.

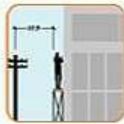

Make sure that conductor covers are used for power lines situated near buildings that are being constructed.

During construction

Be cautious at all times and remember that electricity may flow through any type of material.

It is important to keep 10ft distance between you and the power lines.

Ensure that the telescopic arm of cranes do not accidentally touch or hit the power lines.
